1985 Homecoming Royalty and Court-Left to Right: Scott Flickinger, Bret Sorensen, Perry Brown, Queen Missy Folstad, King Brent Buhr, Amy Evenson, Kathy Rose, Laurie Satrom, Shelly Thompson.

Homecoming '85 was a very exciting week for everyone. It started with the Pageant on Monday night and ended with the Homecoming dance on Friday night after a Panther victory over Hatton. But there were plenty of things to do throughout the week. A pep rally was held Friday at noon and at halftime of the game, each class was represented in a decorated car. The Juniors and Seniors won the Spirit Stick. The zany dress-up days during the week made it a fun time.

Our second year German class learned many new things about Germany.

One of our experiences with German culture was making signs for Oktoberfest. We displayed them at the Page Super Valu. The signs consisted of the names of American fruits, vegetables and meats translated into German.

During the school year, we sold German candy as a fundraiser. We sold Gummi Bears and Twins, Bon-Bons and Toblerones.

As a future unit for class, we will be cooking German foods.

Our class was taught by Miss Nieman. This was her first year at Page High School.

Ready To Go

The Junior Class was outgoing and always ready to go. They sold magazines as a class fund raiser. Long hard hours were spent preparing for the Prom.

The Sophomore Class kept very busy this past year. They carried out a successful fund raiser, selling pizzas. Everyone kept busy participating in school activities throughout the year.

The Busy And...

What a busy class the Freshmen were! With all the courses they were required to take, it was amazing they had time for anything other than studying. However, they must have because most of them participated in one sport or more and they also sold fruit as a fundraiser.

... The Goofy

The goof-offs in Junior High this past year were definately the 8th Graders. They had no fund raisers to keep them busy, so they spent all their energies on academics, athletics, and music. It doesn't sound like there was much time for any fooling around, but somehow they managed.

The seventh grade experienced something new switching from sixth grade to seventh grade. It was a real hassle trying to get used to no recesses! But, they caught on very quickly to the high school routine and spent their time with many activities.

Movin' Up

I like school.
It is like jumping into a big pool.
We eat in the cafeteria.
In Science we learn about bacteria.

In reading we read about codes.
On the playground there were some toads.
Our teacher is very sweet.
She smells like a sugar beet.

Art is fun,
But you will not be able to do it
unless your work is done.
School is not a fad,
In fact, school is not so bad.

For math in the future we will divide,
Moans and groans that's what we replied.
In the past we did subtract,
And you know it is a fact.

In spelling we learn lots of words,
In science we will study about birds.
In music if we get wild,
She tells us not to act like a child.

If we're tardy we get in trouble,
And if we complain we get work
double.
In social studies we learned 50 states,
In the future we'll learn other traits.

Head Over Heels

It's rather obvious that the Fourth Graders were head over heels in love with their teacher, Miss Neiman. When asked what they liked about school, she was at the top of their list. Math was second on the list, with health coming in close behind that. All of them thought 4th grade was fun especially recess time!

Beyond Ordinary

The computer age has arrived in the Third Grade. It was one of the favorite things to do during free time. There were also many scientists and artists in the class. One special day was spent with grandparents who were with the students all day long, doing the same kinds of everyday things the kids do every day at school.

They did things beyond the ordinary in the Second Grade. Besides studying the usual things like reading, writing and arithmetic, there were special things. Each child made a booklet about the Pilgrims in November, having done extensive study on them. Then in January, they studied the Eskimos and made another book. But by far the most exciting thing was learning their cursive writing.

Sugar And Spice

The First Grade was full of giggles and sugar and spice and everything nice. They consisted of eleven girls and one boy. They were busy learning many new things. Probably the most exciting was learning how to read. They even had pen pals from Arnold, Nebraska, whom they enjoyed sharing with. Many new experiences were learned throughout the year.

Baking, playing with clay and doing little plays for the parents were some of the most enjoyable things that the Kindergarten students did. But all play and no work would not make brilliant minds, so they also had some learning to do. The sounds of the letters, numbers to 50, addition facts to 5 and names of colors and shapes were at the top of their academic list.

ADMINISTRATION/FACULTY

Mr. Arthur Mitzel - Superintendent

Mr. Richard Davidson - Principal

“Top” Priority

The main responsibility of the Board is the adoption of the annual school budget including the necessary tax levy for the district. In addition to the finances, the Board is responsible for the upkeep of the school building and buses. The Board is also involved in setting school policy and curriculum evaluation.

Board of Education - Nyle Burchill, Virginia Vosgerau, Ernest Erickson Jr., Murray Patterson, William Thompson - President.

Unending Support

The Page Booster Club spent the year in a supportive role. They hosted a chili supper in the fall for the football and girls basketball teams and purchased the pennants in the gym. To raise money they raffled off the game ball at all home boys basketball games, and held a bake sale at one home game. Through the entire year they were there to give great fan support. Then in the spring they hosted an Awards Banquet.

Booster Club Officers: President, Kevin Pankow; Vice President, Kurt Brown; Secretary-Treasurer, Jeneva Burchill.

The 85-86 school year was a busy time for the Page School Mothers. With winning sports teams came more spectators and, therefore, more food to prepare. It also meant more funds and with those a microwave, a roaster, shirts for girls and boys basketball teams and video tapes were purchased, with spring projects yet to be considered. There was also a donation made for a new school piano.

School Mothers Officers: President, Karen Alm; Vice President, Marilyn Thompson; Secretary, Sharon Johnson; Treasurer, Pearl Patterson.

Specialties

The Page School was very fortunate to have a number of trained staff members working in specialized fields. These included the speech and learning disabilities teachers, who came to us out of the Sheyenne Valley Special Education Unit, the counselor who was shared with the Finley-Sharon and Hope School Districts, and Mrs. Stibbe. We also had other very capable helpers without whom our school would not have run so smoothly. Mrs. Thorson always organized "everything" for "everyone," Mrs. Goter, who did the organizing for Mrs. Tweed in the fifth and sixth grade and Brian who always made sure the library stayed in tip-top shape for Mrs. Stibbe.

Greatly Appreciated

The cooks were busier than ever preparing new and different kinds of food for the students. Jonella was new, but fit in very well. Her baking was especially appreciated.

The bus drivers tried their best to get us to school on time, even in the worst situations. But the kids didn't really mind if they were late because then they could miss some class.

The custodians kept everything spiffy and clean so that each day started with a new atmosphere. Everyones help was very much appreciated.

Fill The Halls With Music

The Junior and Senior High Choruses are always busy during the year preparing for their many activities. This year was no exception. In the fall, students tried out for the Barnes County Chorus. After much preparation the group was ready to go, but several storm cancellations postponed the event until spring. By that time, Christmas was sneaking up and the halls were filled with melodic sounds of the season as the chorus was getting ready for the annual Christmas concert. By spring, small groups and soloists were chosen for competition in district contest, along with the Barnes County performance and the local spring concert.

In It Together

Due to the small number of students in the sixth grade, the Fifth and Sixth Grade Bands were combined. Each student had a 30 minute lesson once a week and then the whole group met twice each week to play together. The group got its first taste at concert experience by performing during the spring program.

High Hopes

The high hopes of the annual staff went on and on. Work began early in the year and continued into the summer. Each school represented by the Josten's Company, competed nationwide to complete all deadlines on time. Names of those schools were then chosen to win scholarships and cash prizes.

FHA members set their goals high. Out of 24 student members in the organization, 17 enrolled in the Degree Program, which is an individual or group voluntary program from which students can earn Home Economics credits in various degrees. This includes anything from writing a paper, to doing an individual project, to doing a project at the state level, or a leadership project. For the first time there were also 3 members who competed in S.T.A.R. events (Students Taking Action for Recognition.) Diane Holden and Suzanne Flickinger competed with illustrated talks and Melissa Alm compted with job applications and an interview. These were all done at the state level. Besides that, members also attended the district rally in Fargo, the state convention in Bismarck, and we can't forget the fun things. At Christmas time there was a fondue party and during FHA week, in February, every day is packed with zany activities.

Hard Working Bunches

The Student Council and Speech Team were hard working bunches of students. The Student Council hosted the traditional Homecoming activities and dance. At Christmas time they were responsible for decorating the tree and for choosing movies to be viewed for the party.

The Speech Team's goal was to perform well at the district competition. In the spring they also presented a program for the School Mothers. The categories for speeches included humorous, serious, dramatic poetry, dramatic duo, speeches to inform, and broadcasting.

Down To The Wire

The Varsity Football Team had a fine season with only two losses. Their chance for a spot in the playoffs went right down to the wire. Nevertheless, it was still an exciting season for the players as well as the fans.

Little Experience Lots Of Enthusiasm

With little experience and lots of enthusiasm the C-Squad had a great year. Their record ended up 5-5 and they participated in the Little Yellowstone Tournament at St. Katherine's in Valley City.

The B-Squad gave their all during the season. They received 5th place at the tournament at Dakota. Their record wasn't the best but they tried hard and had fun.

Successful Season

The Panther Basketball Team had another successful season. Their final record was 24 wins and 1 loss. The team accomplished many of their pre-season goals; among them, winning the Barnes County Tournament (for the second year in a row), going undefeated during the regular season, being named Tall Towers Conference Champions, placing first at the District 4 Tournament, and going on to compete in the Region I Tournament. They placed second in the Region. The Panthers also won many awards and honors. They included; Brent Buhr, Brian Buhr, and Bret Sorensen being named to the All-Barnes County Tournament Team, the Region I Tournament Team, and the All-Conference First Team. Perry Brown was named Honorable Mention in the conference and Coach Lang was named District 4 and Region I Coach-of-the-Year. Brent and Brian Buhr both surpassed the 1,000 career point mark. They were honored at the last home basketball game by the Booster Club and the Page fans.

Excellent

The B-Squad had a good season finishing off with a 17 and 2 record. They worked together and gave it all they had. They took 1st place in the B-Squad Tournament at Galesburg.

The C-Squad had a terrific season. They had a fun year and gave it their all. They got 5th place in the LYC Tournament at Oriska.

Rah! Rah! Rah!

The A, B, and C squad cheerleaders had a great time this season. They were always busy making posters, planning pep rallies, thinking up skits, and of course, practicing. They worked hard keeping everybody fired up and cheering the boys on to first place in Barnes County Tournaments and Districts, and a second place victory in the Regional Tournament.

Run And Shoot

Dribble, pass, pivot, shoot! The coaches worked hard to teach the D-Squad Basketball Teams all the fundamentals. The girls were coached by Mary West and participants included Missy Waloch, Heidi Alm, Nicola Bankers, Jill Thompson, Carli Smith, Kristi Erickson, Stacy Wahl, Allison Lang, Michelle Kyser, Lynella Suhr, Tammy Treitline, Melissa Mechtel, Heather Davidson, Kristina Mewes, Tricia Burchill, Erin Miller, and Carli Suhr.

The annual elementary track meet was held the last day of school. Mr. Arlo Mittleider organized students, teachers, and parents. Despite the cold and rain, the kids did their best.

Making Friends

Again, the Football Cheerleaders were by the team's side through rain, sleet, snow, or the dead of night. The cheerleaders were always by when they won or lost.

Volleyball was one heck of an experience. Even though we didn't do so well, we had fun and made friends. We played in 2 tournaments against Wahpeton, Valley City, Oak Grove, Kindred, Maple Valley and Thompson.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Just Swingin'

The Music Department had a swinging year under the direction of Carol Meyers. Concerts were given at Christmas time and once again in the spring. A stage band was formed and they performed for the first time for the community at the spring concert along with some of the district music entrees. Districts, which were held at N.D.S.U. in Fargo, also showed some promising entrees to the state music contest which was held in Jamestown. These were a saxophone solo by Jennifer Mitzel, a trumpet solo by Char Burchill, and a saxophone ensemble which included Cheri Carlson, Darci Nelson, Laurie Satrom, Brenda Johnson, Leslie Iverson, Jennifer Buhr, and Richard Satrom.

Special Feast

By 12 noon on May 10, the junior mothers were already busy preparing the meal that was served at the Junior-Senior Banquet. Pastor Phillip Larson gave the invocation and the eating began. Brenda Johnson sang "Forever," which was also the theme for the Prom later that evening. The guest speaker was Murray Patterson. Juniors, Brian Buhr and Cheri Carlson read the prophecy and Missy Folstad summed up the program with the reading of the wills.

Lights, Action...

From Santa Claus, to the Gingerbread Boy, to a family of werewolves, to foreign songs and kindergarten graduation; the elementary programs used a variety of characters and forms of entertainment. The Christmas programs had Santa in a couple of predicaments; one in which Santa needed to fire up and get things ready in his toy shop for the holiday delivery and the other where Santa was a bit too plump and needed to slim down. Then the spring program included poetry, music, drama and the commencement exercises for the kindergarten.

... Or Not To Be

Under the direction of Susan Stibbe, a nine member cast put together the first act of "Voices from the High School," which was to be performed for competition at Oak Grove. This play depicted many different episodes in the lives of the teenagers within the same high school; including their many problems and unique personalities. Due to illness the play was never performed, but many hours of hard work had been put into it.

What A City!

Washington D.C. What a place! It was home to Diane Holden, Mary Jean Burgard, and Traci Morton for three days. They saw things in those few days that could take some people three weeks to see. But with the help of John, the tour guide, they got through it alive. Some of the sights they saw were the White House, Ford Theater, Arlington National Cemetery, the John F. Kennedy Center, and much, much more.
